Aetheria Student Handbook & Code of Conduct

Welcome to Aetheria Academy of Resonance and Weaving! The following regulations are designed to ensure the safety, academic integrity, and harmonic balance of all students, faculty, and sentient constructs within the academy grounds.

Section 1: The Core Tenets of Resonance

The foundation of Aetheria is built upon the Three Tenets: Balance, Control, and Innovation.

- Balance: The aether is a finite resource in our immediate dimension. Drawing too much ambient energy can cause localized gravity wells.
- Control: Power without precision is merely destruction. A true Weaver calculates the exact frequency before acting.
- Innovation: The forms of the past are guidelines, not chains. We encourage safe experimentation within designated shielding zones.

Section 2: Code of Conduct and Disciplinary Actions

Any violation of the academy's rules will result in disciplinary action. The severity of the punishment corresponds directly to the level of harmonic disruption caused.

Minor Infractions

- Loitering in the Kinetic Corridors during passing periods.
- Leaving aether-residue on classroom desks.
- Improperly tuning a conduit, resulting in minor auditory feedback.
- Being late to the Grand Nexus for the evening meal without a pass.

Punishment: 1-5 demerits, temporary suspension of Courier-Sprite privileges, or manual cleaning of the alchemy vats.

Major Infractions

- Weaving in the Corridors: Students are strictly forbidden from performing Aether-weaves outside of sanctioned classrooms or the Dueling Club. Matter-shifting your classmates into crystalline statues, even temporarily, is not an acceptable response to insults. The 'Crystalline Incident of 2012' remains a dark mark on our history.
- Entering the Void Wastes: The dark wastelands bordering the campus are strictly out of bounds. The wastes are heavily populated by Null-Stalkers and Entropic Anomalies. Any student found past the boundary wards will face immediate suspension.
- Unsanctioned Alchemical Brewing: Creating elixirs in dormitory rooms is highly volatile. The resulting fumes can cause permanent spatial phasing.

Punishment: 10-50 demerits, week-long detention in the Archives, or containment in the Stasis Pods for a cooling-off period.

Expellable Offenses

- Willful destruction of the Resonance Crystal.
- Summoning a Level 5 or higher Void Entity.
- Stealing a hover-board and attempting to break the atmospheric shielding.

Punishment: Immediate expulsion, memory suppression of all aetheric formulas, and banishment to the Unattuned world.

Section 3: Dress Code and Uniform Standards

Aetheria Academy requires all students to maintain a professional and safe appearance. The aether reacts to specific materials; therefore, our uniform is designed for both identification and protection.

- Standard Tuning Robes: Must be worn at all times. They are woven from indigo synth-silk, which absorbs errant kinetic sparks.
- Conducting Gloves: Mandatory for Alchemy and Matter Shifting. Must be made of insulated dragon-hide or reinforced polymer.
- Amulets and Jewelry: Overly resonant amulets that emit loud frequencies or bright flashes are banned. They interfere with the faculty's communication networks.
- Footwear: Rubber-soled boots are required to ground static buildup. Hover-shoes are strictly banned in the academic wings.

Section 4: Banned Items List

Warden Kaelen updates the banned items list weekly. Currently, there are 437 forbidden items. A selection of the most frequently confiscated items includes:

- Screeching Prisms: Crystals designed to emit a deafening ultrasonic frequency when dropped.
- Volatile Aether-Orbs: Recreational explosives that shatter the local color spectrum.
- Ever-Bouncing Kinetic Discs: Discs that continuously absorb kinetic energy until they shatter the nearest window.
- Invisibility Cloaks: Specifically, the cheap imports from the Eastern Wastes that only turn the wearer's clothes invisible, but not their body.
- Empathic Ink: Pens that write down your innermost embarrassing thoughts instead of the lecture notes.

Section 5: Dormitory Regulations

Each of the four Quadrants has specific sanctum rules, but the following apply universally:

- Curfew is strictly 10:00 PM. The shifting corridors will lock into place at this time.
- No unauthorized pets (see FAQ for allowed companions).
- Do not attempt to re-tune the temperature dials in your room. If you are cold, request a thermal-weave blanket. Tampering with the dials has historically resulted in dormitory fires.

Section 6: Historical Context of the Rules

Many students ask why our rules are so strict. We remind you of the Great Resonance Cascade of 1984, where a group of third-year students attempted to combine a levitation weave with an endless-water elixir. The resulting floating lake flooded the entire western wing and took three weeks to evaporate. Safety is our primary concern.

Section 7: Health and Safety Guidelines

In the event of an aether-burn (characterized by glowing blue skin and a feeling of weightlessness), report immediately to the Medical Wing. Do not attempt to treat it with standard water, as this will cause the burn to crystallize.

If a Null-Stalker breaches the perimeter, the alarm will sound a low, rhythmic hum. Proceed calmly to the inner sanctuary of your Quadrant. Do not attempt to engage the anomaly.

Section 8: The Academic Honor Code

Cheating on the C.R.A. or M.A.T. exams is physically impossible due to the Truth-Weaves embedded in the exam hall. However, attempting to cheat will result in the immediate forfeiture of your exam and a permanent mark on your academic record. Plagiarism of alchemical formulas is considered intellectual theft and is treated as a Major Infraction.
